To Consumer Customers of the Receivership Defendants Listed in the Letterhead:

On April 23, 2004 the Federal Trade Commission filed a lawsuit against National Consumer Council, London Financial Group, National Consumer Debt Council, LLC, Solidium, LLC, J. P. Landis, LLC, Financial Rescue Services, Inc., et al. The Federal Trade Commission has alleged that the companies violated the FTC act by Misrepresentations and Omissions and violated other Regulations and Acts.

On May 3, 2004 the United States District Court entered an Order appointing Robb Evans & Associates LLC as Temporary Receiver, and thereafter, on May 21, 2004, National Consumer Council, London Financial Group, National Consumer Debt Council, LLC, Solidium, LLC, J. P. Landis, LLC, Financial Rescue Services, Inc. and United Consumers Law Group, P.C. , et al., each entered into a Stipulation and Preliminary Injunction for the appointment of Robb Evans & Associates LLC as Receiver and continuation of an asset freeze and other relief.

Pursuant to the Preliminary Injunctions entered as to all parties by the United States District Court on May 21, 2004, the businesses are now closed and all debt negotiation services and legal services have stopped. You can obtain a copy of the various Court Orders on the Receiver's website at www.ncc-receiver.com.

The Receiver has control of all funds of the Receivership Defendants and computer and other records. Based on initial reviews, the Receiver believes company records are complete and accurate, including the accounting of your funds remitted for fees and debt settlement payments. The Receiver's goal is to return to you as soon as possible your funds that are held in a trust account for the purpose of paying debt settlements. Funds in a Trust Account do not include any fees you agreed to pay to the companies. There are not sufficient funds to return any fees at this time.

The Receiver is completing the reconciliation of accounts and verification of other possible claims, and will apply for Court approval to complete the distribution of your remaining trust funds (not including fees) to you. This verification and Court approval process could take from six to eight weeks. No further action is required from you.

You are encouraged to make contact with all of your creditors and begin or resume the settlement discussions that may have been in progress. You should tell your creditors that the Receivership Defendants (listed in the letterhead) no longer represent you and that the Receiver's goal is to return to you, as soon as possible, your funds that are held in a trust account for the purpose of paying debt settlements.

You can discuss and negotiate a settlement with creditors directly without third party assistance. The Federal Trade Commission provides information to consumers about debt negotiation at its web site www.ftc.gov. (From the "Contents" section select "For Consumers" then select "Credit" then find the topic "Knee Deep in Debt.") However, if you have received a Summons, or other legal papers from a creditor, you should seek assistance from a lawyer.

As new information becomes available, including Court approval to return funds to consumers, it will be available on the Receiver's web site at www.ncc-receiver.com. To learn additional information about the FTC's lawsuit, call the FTC Consumer Hot Line (202) 326 3435.

Very truly yours,

Robb Evans and Associates LLC, Receiver
